History The building was designed by the architect and civil engineer John Fowler for the Lancashire and Yorkshire Railway and was completed in 1897. It is constructed from sandstone blocks with a slate roof. The architect was John Fowler who was also responsible for the design of the Great Southern Hotel and both houses use similar detailing. The railway company had responsibility for the development of Blackpool and in 1894 granted a lease to the Blackpool Urban District Council (who governed the area up until 1974) for a term of 99 years at a peppercorn rent. The building was subsequently passed to the Blackpool Corporation when it was created in 1921. It was restored in 1977. The building is now a private residence.
