The Geriatric Depression Scale (GDS) was validated as a screening instrument for geriatric depression in five independent populations of older patients. The results of the study of the sensitivity and specificity of the GDS and the Mini-Mental State Examination (MMSE) are presented. The MMSE was significantly (p less than.001) more sensitive than the GDS for the detection of geriatric depression. The GDS was significantly (p less than.01) more specific than the MMSE. The sensitivity and specificity of the MMSE are thus comparable to those of more elaborate instruments. It is recommended that both the GDS and the MMSE be used in geriatric depression research and in clinical settings. Q: WebGrid columns and DataAnnotations I'm using the Asp.Net WebGrid to display my data in a web application. I want to display first column as Title and rest as Image. I need to bind the webgrid with list of Items. My question is: Is there a way to set Title and Image as columns of my webgrid in XAML? If not, is there a way to bind the WebGrid with list of Items in ASP.Net MVC? Regards, A: You can do this in your view: @grid.Column("Title",...) @grid.Column("Image",...) See the ASP.NET WebGrid Overview for more info. Ovarian estrous cycle and natural killer cell activity in the female
